FORMATION OF SPX PROCESS EQUIPMENT –

DELAVAN, WI (2003) – SPX PROCESS EQUIPMENT – The recent merger of Bran+Luebbe, Lightnin and Waukesha Cherry-Burrell has created a unified and powerful new company called SPX Process Equipment; a leading global manufacturer with a complete line of pumps, mixers, valves, fittings, mills, heat exchangers and process systems. Headquartered in Delavan, Wisconsin, SPX Process Equipment is committed to offering quality products, services, R&D testing facilities and aftermarket support worldwide.

SPX Process Equipment will continue to address customers' changing product needs by developing new techniques and improvements to satisfy the industry's most difficult processing applications. With these efforts in place, SPX Process Equipment will maintain the integrity of its product brands and provide an unparalleled network of stocking distributors, manufacturing representatives and sales channels worldwide.
